

© F S

Intermix conference

People gather. With teams scattered throughout buildings, cities and across the globe, we all need a place to get together to align our activities and set direction for what to do next. Intermix conference tables accommodate these spaces for productive, meaningful interactions. The versatility of Intermix through shapes, sizes and configurations as well as material choices does exactly as its name implies, it mixes beautifully with your design and function aspirations. And, when your space calls for a more modern approach to gathering, Intermix's metal, architecturally inspired bases add visual interest.

