

Heya retreat

In Japanese, Heya means “small room.” Designer Roger Webb created Heya to form smaller spaces within an environment. The Heya retreat’s comfort and visual softness allow these small rooms to blend seamlessly into the office, serving as a touchdown spot for focused work or an intentional space for connection.

