

Location spotlight: Lodge Life

The Lodge at St. Edward Park Kenmore, WA

The perfect harmony of old and new

What once was the St. Edward Seminary (1931 - 1977), and then sat empty for over 40 years, this iconic landmark has been completely transformed with all the modern amenities and conveniences of a boutique lodge. The project team carefully refurbished and restored its Romanesque Revival exterior architecture and Art Deco interiors. Former classrooms are now conference and meeting spaces, the dining hall is an open-kitchen restaurant, and the the tiny dorm rooms once occupied by seminary students were far too small for visitors. So, each of the 84 new guestrooms combine two of the old spaces, so hallways are lined with stately wood panels in place of half the doors.
